Saskatchewan Economic Indicators 37

Executive Summary

Recent highlights for the Saskatchewan economy include the following:

Economic Growth and Forecasts

According to Statistics Canada's estimates released on November 10, 2015, Saskatchewan posted a Gross Domestic Product (GDP) at basic prices of $59.3 billion (B) (in 2007 chained dollars) in 2014. This represented an increase of 1.6% in real GDP, compared to 2013. Saskatchewan ranked fifth among the provinces in terms of percentage change.

A number of major economic forecasters expect Saskatchewan's economy to experience negative growth in 2015 before picking up slightly in 2016 and 2017. For 2015, the average estimate for Saskatchewan is -0.9%, eighth among the provinces. Forecasts from seven private forecasters ranged from -2.8% to 0.1%. For 2016, the average real GDP growth forecast for Saskatchewan is 0.6%, eighth among the provinces and below the national rate of 1.6%.

According to survey results released in December 2015 by Manpower Inc., a multi-national staffing company, employers in Saskatchewan are optimistic or neutral about the January to March 2016 period. Of the employers surveyed, 87% in Saskatoon and 93% in Regina expect staffing levels to increase or stay the same during that period.

Labour Market

In February 2016, on a seasonally adjusted basis, Saskatchewan's employment decreased by 7,800 (-1.4%), compared to January 2016.

Saskatchewan's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate stood at 5.9% in February 2016, up from 5.6% in January 2016. The province had the lowest seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in the country and was below the national rate of 7.3%.

Production and Exports

In January 2016, the value of manufacturing shipments in Saskatchewan totalled $1.3B, a decrease of 2.3% compared to January 2015. Saskatchewan ranked ninth among the provinces in terms of percentage change.

In January 2016, compared to January 2015, Saskatchewan's potash production decreased by 6.2%, to 0.97M tonnes K2O. Potash sales decreased by 43.9% to 0.49M tonnes K2O, during the same period. In the twelve months of 2015, the province's potash production increased by 8.3% to 11.1M tonnes K2O, while sales were down by 5.5% to 10.6M tonnes K2O, compared to the same period in 2014.

In January 2016, oil production in Saskatchewan decreased by 9.7% to 2.3M cubic metres, and natural gas production decreased by 6.3% to 472.0M cubic metres, compared to January 2015. In the twelve months of 2015, production of oil decreased by 5.3% to 28.2M cubic metres, while production of natural gas in the province decreased by 0.5% to 5.8B cubic metres, compared to the same period in 2014.

In January 2016, Saskatchewan's international exports of goods decreased by 19.8%, to $2.4B, down from $3.0B in January 2015. In the twelve months of 2015, exports of goods decreased by 7.3%, to $32.8B, compared to the same period in 2015.

Investment and Construction

In 2014, capital investment in Saskatchewan decreased by 2.3%, to $17.8B, compared to 2013, with $15.5B in capital investment estimated for 2015.

In the fourth quarter of 2015, investment in non-residential construction in Saskatchewan totalled $455.4M, down by 4.2%, compared to $475.5M in the fourth quarter of 2014. In the four quarters of 2015, investment in non-residential construction in Saskatchewan totalled $1.7B, a decrease of 6.6%, compared to the same period in 2014.

The value of building permits issued in Saskatchewan totalled $91.6M in January 2016, down by 15.4%, compared to $108.3M in January 2015. In the twelve months of 2015, the value of building permits issued in Saskatchewan totalled $2.9B, an increase of 8.0%, compared to the same period in 2014.

The number of housing starts in Saskatchewan's urban centres decreased by 22.2% in February 2016, compared to February 2015. For the first two months of 2016, the number of housing starts in the province's urban centres was down by 23.1%, on average, compared to the same period in 2015.

Other Indicators

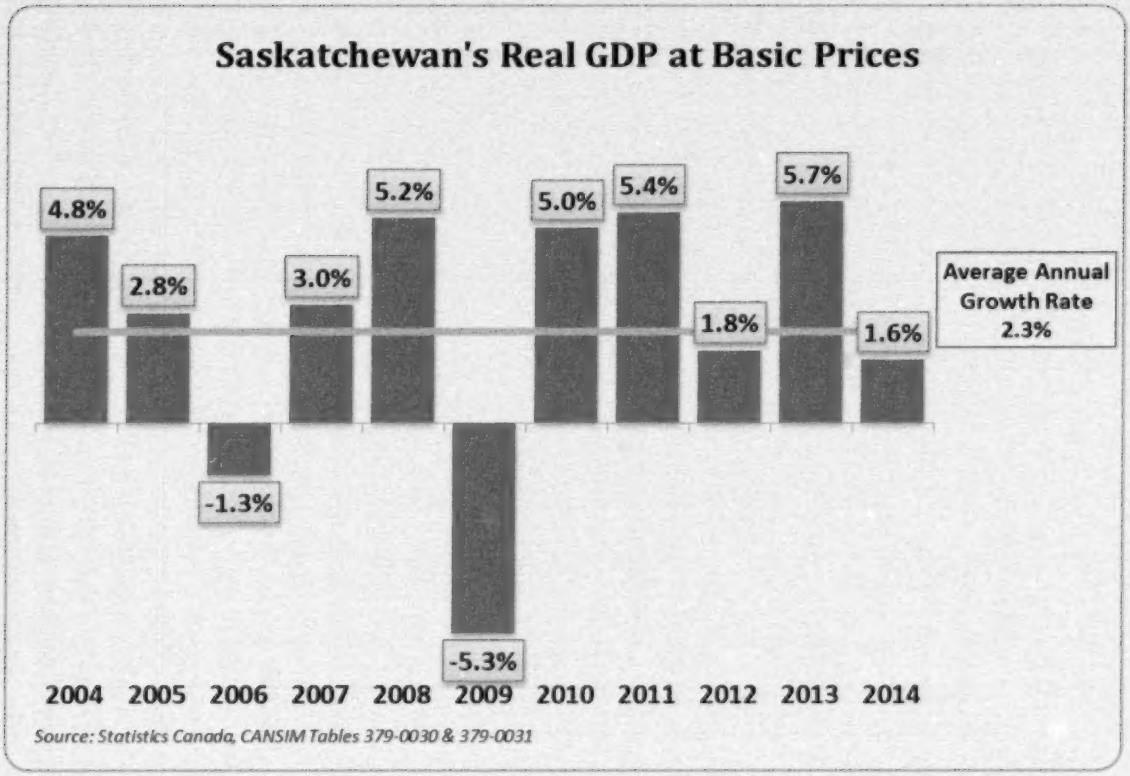
In January 2016, retail sales were down by 0.8% to $1.3B, compared to January 2015. During this period, wholesale trade totalled $2.0B, a decrease of 3.6%.

In January 2016, new motor vehicle sales in Saskatchewan decreased by 6.2%, to 3,279 units, compared to January 2015.

Saskatchewan's average weekly earnings (including overtime) for all industries in December 2015 increased by 0.1%, or $0.80, to $992.10, compared to December 2014. The national average earnings increased by 1.7%, or $16.34, to $964.74 during the same month.

The province's population was estimated at 1,142,570 as of January 1, 2016, an increase of 13,509 people since January 1, 2015 (1,129,061) and an increase of 3,691 people from October 1, 2015 (1,138,879).

Economic Growth and Forecasts



According to Statistics Canada's estimates (released on November 10 , 2015), Saskatchewan posted a GDP at basic prices of $59.3B (in 2007 chained dollars) in 2014. This represented an increase of 1.6% in real GDP compared to 2013. Saskatchewan's real GDP growth of 1.6% ranked fifth among the provinces in 2014. Eight of the 10 provinces had growth in real GDP in 2014, including Alberta at 4.5%, B.C. at 2.9%, Ontario at 2.5%, Nova Scotia at 0.7%, Québec at 1.4%, Saskatchewan at 1.6%, Prince Edward Island at 1.5%, and Manitoba at 2.0%. New Brunswick (-0.33%) and Newfoundland and Labrador (-2.3%) recorded declines in GDP. The national average was up by 2.4% in 2014.

Compared to other sectors, mining, quarrying, and oil and gas extraction contributed the most to growth (+7.7%), due to record oil production and strong uranium growth. In 2014, the oil and gas extraction sector experienced overall growth of 7.0% and the mining (excluding oil and gas) sector grew by 7.4%. Manufacturing output decreased by 0.6%, the utilities sector grew by 2.6%, and construction increased by 1.0%. GDP in agriculture, forestry, fishing and hunting decreased by 16.8% in 2014, largely due to the record growth realized in 2013.

GDP in the services-producing sector increased by 2.4% in 2014. Transportation and warehousing grew by 7.3%, and wholesale trade by 2.9%. Growth was also experienced in real estate and rental and leasing (+3.5%), retail trade (+2.7%) and finance and insurance (+2.1%).

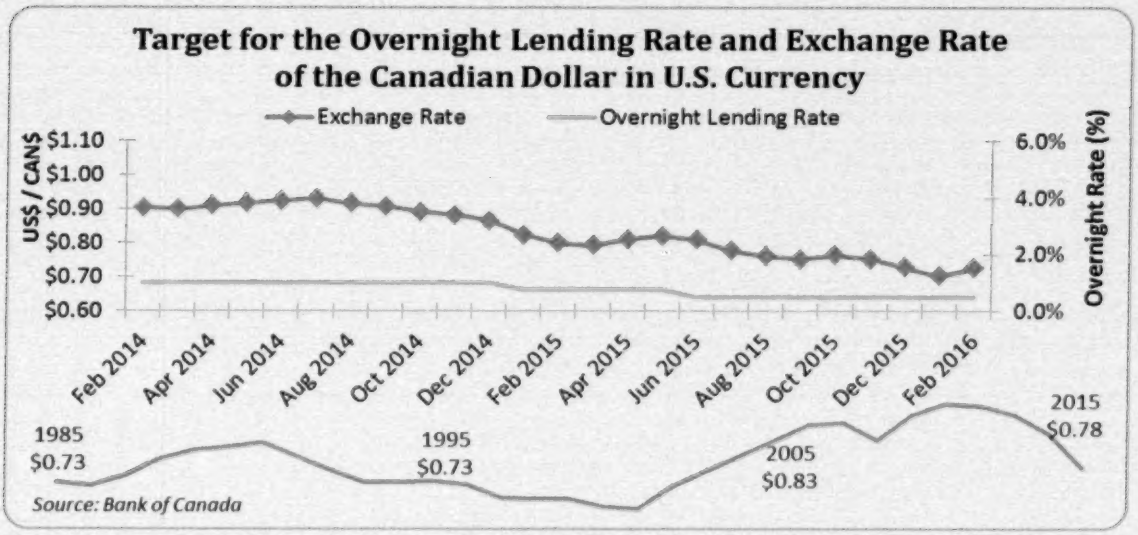
In its Winter 2016 Provincial Outlook, the Conference Board of Canada (CBOC) predicts the province's economy will have modest growth of 0.7% in 2016 and will continue to grow in 2017, with real GDP growth of 2.7%. The construction sector is expected to be the engine of growth for the next few years with solid growth of 12.1% in 2016, thanks to large projects in the potash sector and the provincial government's infrastructure plan.

Low oil prices lasting longer than expected will keep downward pressure on capital investment for the next year, resulting in a 1.2% oil production contraction. Uranium production on the other hand will be a bright spot in the economy for the next few years as Asia's energy demand is expected to increase.

Crop production weakened less than expected in 2015 as late season rains eased drought conditions and drove the agricultural sector to recover with a robust 11.1% growth. International trade is expected to boost strong demand for Saskatchewan agricultural products in the near term. Farmers are also benefiting from a lower Canadian dollar as US dollar-denominated commodity prices translate into higher Canadian dollar values for their crops.

Weak economic conditions in the province are causing households to hold back on spending and it will also slow down job creation, with expected employment gains of around 4,000 in 2017 as the economy strengthens.

According to survey results released in December 2015 by Manpower Inc., a multi-national staffing company, employers in Saskatchewan are optimistic or neutral about the January to March 2016 period. Of the employers surveyed, 87% in Saskatoon and 93% in Regina expect staffing levels to increase or stay the same during that period.



The exchange rate (Canadian dollars per U.S. dollar) for February 2016 averaged 1.25, an increase of 10.3%, compared to February 2015. As of March 28, 2016, the Canadian dollar was trading at 75.85 cents U.S.

On March 09, 2016 the Bank of Canada decided to maintain its target for the overnight lending rate at 0.50%. The Bank Rate is correspondingly 0.75%, and the deposit rate is 0.25%. Most of the chartered banks kept their prime lending rate at 2.7%.

World economic growth is expected to be weak, yet upward trending in 2016 and 2017, mainly driven by the US economic expansion. Previous financial market volatility appears to be fading away and commodity prices have rebounded in recent weeks, but investors still face downside risks conditions. Although recently increasing, the price of oil is expected to remain at lower levels, dampening economic prospects for Canada and other oil-producing countries.

On the domestic front, Canada's GDP growth in the fourth quarter was not as weak as expected, yet it was far from promising. Evidence suggests that the economy is shifting towards the non-resource sector, but the impact of job losses in the resource-intensive regions continues to be a drag on growth. Non-energy exports are increasing – particularly in sectors that are sensitive to exchange rate movements, and despite the recent appreciation of the Canadian dollar – in light of monetary policy changes in Canada and south of the border. In addition, positive impacts are expected from the next federal budget's fiscal policies.

The Bank of Canada's next scheduled date for announcing the overnight rate is April 13, 2016.

On March 16, 2016, the Federal Open Market Committee of the U.S. Federal Reserve reaffirmed its overnight Federal funds rate at the range of 0.25% to 0.50% to support continued progress toward maximum employment and 2% inflation. Household spending and business investment continue to increase but recovery in the housing sector remains slow and exports growth has weakened since January 2016. The Committee anticipates that even after employment and inflation are near mandate-consistent levels, economic conditions may, for some time, warrant keeping the target federal funds rate below levels the Committee views as normal in the longer run.

The Federal Open Market Committee's next meeting is scheduled for April 26-27, 2016.

Labour Market
